Tuesday afternoon.

Dear Mother,

The package came this a.m. and I am hot through and through! If I had really needed those furs you must know I'm selfish enough to have kept them. Moreover, I know that you need them and are used to wearing them, so you are apt to take cold without them. On the other hand, I never get a chance to wear furs more than once a week, sometimes once in two. If I had a box I should send them back today, but the one they came in wouldn't stand another trip. However, I shall send them in my laundry, if not before.

This may sound unappreciative, but it isn't. I realize that you want to wear the furs but that you want me to have them still more. Thank you ever and ever so much, mother dearest, but I can't keep them. I wish I might start now & bring them home to you.

Last night I went down to Noanett to dinner with Marion Bassett & Helen with Margaret Claflin. We had a very nice time. Marion says that Preston broke the Amherst jumping record & won a gold medal at Hartford last week. His record was 5 ft.
10 in. I had to hurry back to C.H. to the Concert, the programme for which I am enclosing. Please save this also. I marked the things I liked best. They seemed to me better than the new Knisel Quartette, though they can't come up to the ^{old} one I heard in Corning. Genie's ex-pupil came out under the chaperonage of a Wellesley '11 girl who is teaching at Mount Ida. Emmeline Wright, the ex-pupil, is typically boarding school girl. I wasn't horribly crazy about her but imagine she's a very nice girl.
Must write a theme. Don't make a fuss about the first, please.
Sincerely,
Janet.
